Hey Alex we just cut the old drawings out of the PDF and inserted the new ones. I will post this email to acknowledge the change.

Thanks,

Marc Casas

Here are the changes

The first change was to raise the height of the I beam posts so that they extend past the top of the gate. The other change had to do with the foundation. Previously, the posts were going to be drilled into the bedrock and concreted into place, the revised foundation will not involve drilling these large holes into the rock. This change was made to simplify construction.

The letter would stay the same but the drawings would be revised. I can submit in a letter bop rob if you would like, just let me know.

Hey Alex, what has changed with this design?

Is it still the same size and location?

Does this replace the other document that people are potentially commenting on?
