Thanks Erika and Aileen. I go on-line at least once a day looking for those stations. I also went out looking for the three community based stations on the weekend and found them all.

I note that the webcams are still not working.

Hi Kevin, I just wanted to let you know that Aileen is working very hard trying to get all the pieces in place in order for GNWT website to start hosting the air data. There are a number of parties at play in order for this to happen. I will let you know when it is up and running. Thank you for your and others patience.
