Additional Documents on the Record
iv.		Specific information was collected at sites throughout Lady Gray and Nonacho Lakes as a reconnaissance to determine if there are any similarities in shallow water habitat characteristics within each lake. Visual observations were made at other sites throughout the Project area to confirm that the two lakes could be used as typical examples to represent the typical vegetated littoral habitat within the system between Nonacho Lake and Twin Gorges. Specific goals of the field program on Lady Gray and	July-August 2008 Littoral Habitat Assessment of Lady Gray Lake, Nonacho Lake and Trudel Creek, February 2009

		Nonacho Lake and Trudel Creek were to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Identify the types of shallow water habitat present in the lakes; • Assess shallow habitat areas and determine the elevation range at which the • submergent and emergent vegetation communities are currently growing; and • Assess the overall quality of the shallow fish habitat.
v.		This report is a compilation of all available and relevant meteorology and hydrology data collected, recorded, and purchased throughout the life of the Taltson Hydro Project. The data are analyzed, summarized, and discussed in the main body of the report, while the raw data are available on the accompanying CD and the 1998 Hydat CD. The purpose of the report is to compile and summarize meteorology/hydrology data and to identify which components of the Project require further investigation in order to meet the goals of the Water Effects Monitoring Program (WEMP).	N1L4-0154 - NTPC - Taltson - Meteorology and Hydrology Compilation Data Report - Apr1-01.pdf
vi.		The purpose of the modelling study is to develop a simple routing model of the Taltson River system from upstream of Nonacho Lake to Great Slave Lake. The main driver behind model development is the proposed expansion of the Twin Gorges hydropower facility on the Taltson River.	Taltson River Basin Flow Model Report, December 2006
