Hello Angela,

The SDL's on the Cameron Hills map are all active, they do not have expiry dates as they are held indefinitely by the interest owner (until they are transferred into PL's or surrendered completely).

Hope this helps.

Thank you,

Hi Johnny,

I hope you are still the right person to be asking this, but if not please pass along.

I've received another storage authorization application for the Cameron Hills field and would like to ensure they are still eligible (that is, they have the right to be on that land...so the EL, SDL, and PL). I've taken a look at the new website and note that the pdf linked to the main Cameron Hills map (April 13, 2021) still has some missing info in the expiry date column (i.e. there's an expired PL and the SDLs don't have any expiry dates). I've followed the instruction to hover over the 'land code' field to access the specific information for each PL or SLD that's listed, but the information contained on this new webpage still seems to be missing the information on expiry dates. However, there is the word 'Active' associated with each of them, but in the 'Abstract' file, it is not explicit that they are not expired. Can you please verify if the listed licences are still valid and in good standings.

Thanks,
Angela

Afternoon Johnny,

Thanks for sending along this information, been a while since I've dealt with the oil and gas files so will pass this link along to others as an fyi as well.

Looking forward to when the links work...hopefully not too many bugs to figure out

Cheers,

Angela

Hi Angela, in regards to the current Oil & Gas Licences in the NT all the valid licences are listed on line

<https://www.iti.gov.nt.ca/en/oil-and-gas-licences?page=1>

The links to the titles are not working right now but will be as soon as all the bugs are worked out.

Hi Johnny,

I was forwarded your name as the one who may be able to help me. I'm looking to process a storage authorization for Strategic Oil and Gas Ltd for the Cameron Hills field, until they are able to submit a renewal Permit application, and need to ensure they are eligible (that is, they have the right to be on that land...so the EL, SDL, and PL). Strategic provided me with a link to a map created by GNWT-ITI (https://www.iti.gov.nt.ca/sites/iti/files/cameron_hills_map_for_website_v8_optimized_feb23_2018.pdf) that appears to show all these, but because it's from Feb 2018 the expiry date column seems to be off (i.e. there's an expired PL and the SDLs don't have any expiry dates). If you're able to provide any updated information on the EL, SDL, and PL for the Cameron Hills field for Strategic, it would be greatly appreciated.

If you have any questions please let me know.

Thanks,

Angela
